

ASCO
would like to thank Congressional members who are committed to protecting quality cancer care for America's seniors.

We applaud Representative Ralph Hall, along with a growing list of co-sponsors, for introducing and supporting House Resolution 261 to encourage the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) to extend a one-year demonstration project to assess the side effects of chemotherapy on cancer patients.

This demonstration project, which has been critically important to Medicare patients over the past year, is set to expire December 31, 2005.

Please join Rep. Hall and others to continue the benefits of the demonstration project beyond 2005 and extend important and necessary cancer care for America's seniors.
